HUMAN TRAFFICKING INVESTIGATIONS
0800-1200

COURSE TOPICS: Human Trafficking is an increasing tactic used by a variety of criminals, including street gangs, as a money-making enterprise. Human trafficking can take many forms, including labor trafficking and street prostitution. Law enforcement has been faced with an increase in these instances, as well as a voter initiative that mandates all law enforcement officers be trained regarding human trafficking.

This course will educate the student to identify human trafficking, specifically the identification, investigation, case management and successful prosecution related to the illegal sex trade. Discussion topics will include current trends, terminology and common business practices within the pimping subculture.

INSTRUCTOR: Nichole King has been a police officer for 12 years with the Vacaville Police Department. She is currently a Detective for the Vice Unit where her primary area of concentration is human trafficking. Detective King has assisted in hundreds of commercial sex trafficking cases, all over the state, during the past four years. She has testified as an expert in commercial sex trafficking cases numerous times in Solano County. She enjoys sharing her experiences and raising awareness by providing training for law enforcement personnel, grade school students, college students, community groups and private sector businesses. Recently Detective King has focused her efforts on restructuring the massage ordinance in Vacaville and enforcement efforts against commercial sex trafficking at massage establishments.

Prior to this assignment, Detective King was able to expand on her experience while being a detective in the Investigative Services Section where she investigated all major crimes. She is also a member of the Vacaville Police Department’s Critical Incident Negotiations Team and the Social Media Team.
